

CEBRA Workshop for Commodities and Macroeconomics

September 19-20, 2024, Ottawa, Canada
Hosted by the Bank of Canada and the Federal Reserve Board

Call for papers

The Bank of Canada and Federal Reserve Board will host the 7th Central Bank Research Association (CEBRA) Workshop for Commodities and Macroeconomics in Ottawa on September 19-20, 2024. We invite researchers at central banks and in academia to submit papers on the economics of commodity markets (including energy, metals, and agricultural products), their interaction with macroeconomic outcomes, and the implications of climate change and energy transition on these markets.

The workshop will feature a keynote by Ryan Kellogg (University of Chicago), who will present recent work on the impact of the energy transition on the oil industry.

Paper topics could be related (but are not restricted) to:

- Modeling and forecasting commodity prices and quantities.
- Aggregate supply implications of shocks to commodity markets.
- Macroeconomic and welfare effects of commodity price fluctuations.
- Monetary or fiscal policy responses to commodity price fluctuations.
- Impact of commodity price fluctuations on capital flows and exchange rates.
- Interactions between commodity markets and financial markets.
- Commodity investment and production decisions and their effects on the economy.
- Technological innovation and adoption in commodity markets.
- The economics of non-renewable and renewable resources.
- Commodities and the economics of climate and environmental change.

The submitting author must be a member of CEBRA.

To join CEBRA free of charge, please visit: <http://www.cebra.org/join>

The deadline for submissions is Wednesday, May 1, 2024.

Please send drafts of completed papers to CEBRACommodities2024@bankofcanada.ca and direct questions to this email address. Authors of accepted papers will be informed by June 4.
